Set up your academy on Lumio Tennis Coach

Everything a head coach needs to go from first sign-in to a full week of coaching: your academy, your players, your team and your first camp.

One place for your whole coaching business

Lumio Tennis Coach brings together the things that usually live in WhatsApp, spreadsheets and your head: bookings, session plans, lesson write-ups, player progress, camps, payments and every message with players and parents.

Your players and their parents get their own app, branded with your academy's name, logo and colours. There they see their sessions, write-ups, progress and messages.

ABOUT THE SCREENSHOTS

The pictures in this guide come from the Lumio demo academy, so the names and figures are sample data. Your portal shows your own academy, and it may be in a light theme and your own accent colour.

Sign in and set up your academy

Signing in

Go to lumiosports.com/sports-login and enter your email address. We email you a 6-digit code: type it in and you're in. There are no passwords, so there's nothing to forget and nothing to reset.

The first time you sign in, a short setup wizard opens. You can skip any of it and come back later, because everything it asks for also lives in Settings.

The setup wizard

WIZARD STEP 1 OF 3

Set up your academy

- Academy name and your name. These appear on your profile card, your players' app and anything you print.
- Your portal address. Choose the web address for your portal, for example lumiosports.com/tennis/coach/your-academy. Lumio checks straight away that nobody else has it.
- Logo and photo (optional), plus the email and mobile you'd like players to use to reach you.
- Calendar and email sync. Choose Google, Outlook/Microsoft 365 or Apple iCloud. You'll finish connecting in Step 2.
- Safeguarding and DBS (optional). Add your certificate number and dates now or later.
- Your coaching team. Choose "Yes, I have a team" to add coaches now, or "No, solo coach" for now.
- Home court. Your main venue becomes your home site in the Court Planner.

WIZARD STEP 2 OF 3

Choose how to get started

I'll add my own data gets you going straight away. There's a data template to download if you're bringing a spreadsheet.

Set it up for me is for founding members: our team imports your players and sets up your portal within 2–3 working days. You'll also accept the Data Processing Agreement here. You're the data controller for your players' data, and Lumio processes it for you.

WIZARD STEP 3 OF 3

Add your players

Upload a spreadsheet and Lumio adds everyone, or type in a few by hand. This step is optional, and you can always add more from the Player Roster.

When you finish, your dashboard opens with a Getting started checklist. It tracks the rest of this guide, and each item opens the right page.

Connect your email and calendar, then add your venues

These two steps take about five minutes and make everything else feel real. Bookings show up on your phone, emails come from you, and every confirmation carries the right address.

Connect your email and calendar

Open Settings → Connected accounts and pick your provider:

- Google (Gmail & Calendar). Click Connect and sign in with Google. Lumio bookings go into your Google Calendar, and emails to players send from your Gmail address.
- Outlook (Microsoft 365). Click Connect and sign in with Microsoft. Bookings go into your Outlook calendar, and emails send from your Outlook address.
- Apple iCloud. Enter your Apple ID and an app-specific password. Create one at appleid.apple.com under Sign-In and Security. Your normal Apple password won't work here.

GOOD TO KNOW

Lumio writes your bookings into your calendar and checks it for busy times when suggesting free slots, so you can't double-book yourself. It doesn't copy your own calendar events into Lumio, and it can't read your inbox.

Add your venues and courts

Open Settings → Venues & courts and add each site you coach at, with its courts. Your home court from the wizard is already there.

- Court names on bookings match the venues here. That's how a player's confirmation gets the right address and map link.
- Add a contact at each venue. Court Planner → Request a court then sends them a pre-written email.
- Set your bookable hours, the lesson types you offer and the gap you want between lessons in Settings → Availability & courts and Settings → Booking calendar.

Settings: tap any card to open it. Connected accounts is in the first row.

Bring in your players

Every booking, plan, write-up, payment and message hangs off a player's record, so this is the step worth getting right. You don't need everyone today: start with the players you see this week.

Three ways to add players

- By hand. Go to Player Roster → Add player and fill in name, age, group, starting colour, a goal and, for juniors, a parent or guardian.
- From a spreadsheet or photo. Settings → Import data reads a spreadsheet, or even a photo of a register, and adds players, coaches, courts, camps and more in one go.
- We do it for you. Founding members can send us their list, and we'll load it.

Get these details right

- Age. For under-16s, confirmations and lesson summaries go to the parent, never the child.
- Parent email for juniors and player email for adults. This is who gets emails and app invites.
- Consents and medical notes are on the player card, so they're with you on court.

Invite them to their app

Open a player's card and press Invite parent (juniors) or Invite player (adults). They get an email and sign in with a code, just as you do. Each new player can also get a printed Welcome pack.

DUPLICATES

If the same person appears twice, use the merge panel at the top of the Player Roster. One person should have one profile.

Add player: only the name is required.

Add your coaching team

If you coach with others, add them on the Coaches page. Each coach sees only what they need, and you keep the safeguarding records in one place.

- 1 Add a coach. Enter their name, accreditation and email in Coaches → Add coach.
- 2 Assign them. Link each coach to the venues they work at and the players they coach.
- 3 Record their DBS and safeguarding. Add certificate numbers and expiry dates. The portal warns you before anything runs out. Set how much notice you want in Settings → Staff & safeguarding.
- 4 Invite them when ready. They sign in with their own email and a code, like you.

What an assistant coach sees

Only their own players, venues and sessions. Your assignments on the Coaches page decide this. Head-coach views such as academy settings, pricing and the whole roster stay with you.

Working solo?

You can hide the Coaches page from your menu in Settings → Menu visibility. Switch it back on the day you take on an assistant.

Run your first week

Book one lesson and follow it through. You'll see how each step fills in the next, and after that you'll use Lumio day to day.

- 1 Book it. In Booking Calendar, click an empty slot or press Add booking. Lumio warns you about clashes and suggests free slots. The player gets a confirmation, a calendar link and the session in their app. To let a player pick a time themselves, send them a booking link.
- 2 Plan it. Open the booking in Session Planner. Lumio builds the plan and a timed run-sheet from that player's history. The player sees "what you'll cover" before the session. Your coach notes stay private.
- 3 Coach it. On court, record the lesson on your phone, or just coach.
- 4 Finish it. Press Finish session and tick what you covered, or let the recording do it. The write-up appears in Lesson Summaries with what you worked on, what to practise and the homework.
- 5 Share it. Press Share with parent, or export a PDF. The "next session focus" feeds straight into the next plan.
- 6 Keep in touch. Messages → Send message walks you through who, how and what. Replies from the app land in one thread per person.

Add booking: clash warnings and free-slot suggestions as you type.

YOUR MORNING READ

The Dashboard briefing is rewritten through the day. It leads with the one thing worth acting on, such as a player with nothing booked, a payment due or kit running low. Tap any tile to jump straight to it.

Set up a camp

A camp is the biggest thing in most coaches' year: the most money, logistics and parent questions. Training Camps runs it from start to finish, whether it's a half-term day camp or two weeks in Spain.

New camp: name, dates, ages, capacity, price, venue and lead coach.

Create it

Press New camp and add the dates and price. Camp days block your calendar automatically, so nobody books a lesson while you're away. The camp also appears in your own Google, Outlook or iCloud calendar.

Then work across the tabs

- Itinerary and Equipment: the day-by-day plan and the kit list.
- Coaches: who's going. This sets your ratio and the camp message group.
- Attendees: your rooming and payment list.
- Targets and Player Packs: goals for each player and printable packs.
- Trip hub: what players see in their app, such as flights, hotel, what to bring and who to call.
- Emails and Promote: camp emails and a sign-up page to share.
- Discord: link your academy's Discord server (below).
- Finance: money in, money owed and costs.

Already use Discord for camps?

In the camp's Discord tab, add the Lumio bot to your own server, then press Add all channels or pick the ones you need. Choose which channel should get camp-wide messages. After that, messages and photos flow both ways. Players see each channel as a tab in their app, and you reply from Lumio without opening Discord. Only your academy sees your server.

Make it yours

Players and parents should feel they're using your academy's app. A few settings make that happen.

Name and logo

In Settings → Academy profile, set your academy name, head coach and logo. They appear across the portal, the player app, certificates and printouts.

Theme and colour

Settings → Appearance offers Dark, Light or White, and ten accent colours. The whole portal changes as you click, and the name of your chosen colour shows under the swatches.

Appearance: theme, accent colour and density.

Your own sign-in page

Every academy gets a branded sign-in page at lumiosports.com/login/your-academy. It uses your portal address, logo, name, theme and colour, with "running on Lumio Tennis Coach" underneath. Put it on your website's "Log in" button and in your welcome emails.

Only show what you use

Turn modules on or off in Settings → Menu visibility. Anything you switch off disappears for you and for your players. For example, if you don't run the Racket Progression rewards, switch them off and the rest of the portal carries on without them.

Help and guidance

The ⓘ next to each page title and the Getting started checklist can both be hidden once you know your way around. Bring them back in Settings → Help & guidance.

The player and parent app

When you invite a player or parent, they sign in the same way you do: email, then a 6-digit code. They land in an app with your academy's name and colours.

What they see

- Upcoming sessions, and "what you'll cover" before each one
- Lesson summaries, homework and the next session focus
- Progress: their colour, the skills they're working on and rewards earned
- Messages with you, including camp groups and Discord channels
- For camps: the trip hub with dates, travel, kit list and contacts
- Drills and guides you recommend, matched to their level

What stays with you

- Your private coach notes on plans and summaries
- Other players' details. Each family sees only their own.
- Anything in a module you've switched off

Under-16s

For juniors, the parent's account is the main one. Confirmations and summaries go to the parent, not the child.
